THE COMPANY.

INTRODUCTION.

A Separate Reality Records is an independently owned record store in Cleveland, Ohio that specializes in used records from the 1960's-1990's. Owned by Augustus Payne, a music industry veteran who has done everything from DJing and playing in bands to working in a recording studio and at a record label, the store opened almost ten years ago and has since become Ohio's largest vinyl record store. The store was previously home to an inhouse witchcraft museum, and although they've since moved locations and no longer house the museum, that supernatural spirit can still be found in the magic created by music.

OUR MISSION.

At A Separate Reality Records, our goal is to connect you with the music that will transport you to another world.

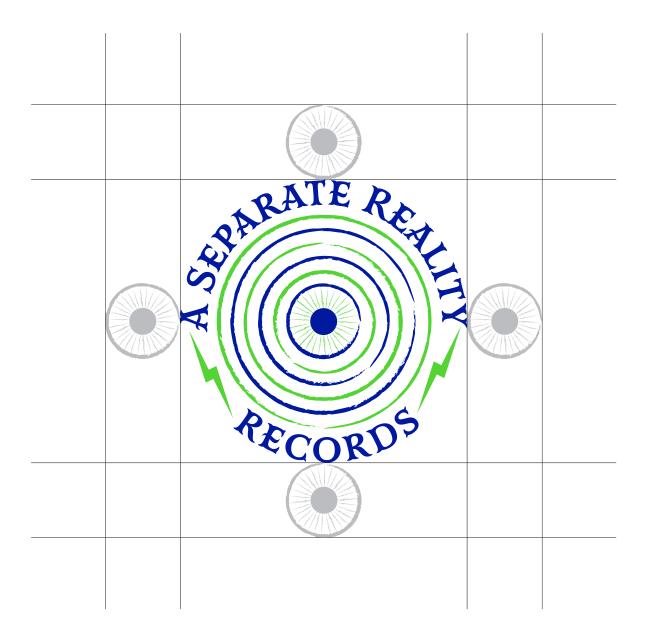

THE LOGO.

THE LOGO.

The A Separate Reality Records logo represents the otherworldly nature of the brand while paying tribute to what matters most: the music. The logo features a vinyl record with an eyeball in the center of it. The name of the company is typed out on a curve in Mr Darcy Bold, keeping the circular shape to maintain the feel of a record. The lightning bolts represent the powerful and electric emotions that music can evoke.

This logo may only be reproduced with permission from A Separate Reality Records and the proper art files. For permission and files, please contact A Separate Reality Records.

100 PX MINIMUM DIGITAL SIZE

CLEAR SPACE.

When using the A Separate Reality Records logo, the proper amount of clears pace must always be maintained, both in print and in digital mediums. The clear space is shown in the demonstration. The center eyeball can be used as a measurement tool.

SIZE.

In print format, the logo should always maintain a minimum width of 1". In digital format, the logo should always maintain a minimum width of 100 px.

TYPOGRAPHY.

Typography is incredibly important to creating a cohesive brand identity. Mr Darcy was chosen to represent A Separate Reality's psychedelic, surreal feel. Courier was chosen to mimic the look of a typewriter, creating a vintage feel representative of the time period of music that A Separate Reality specializes in-the 1960's to the 1990's.

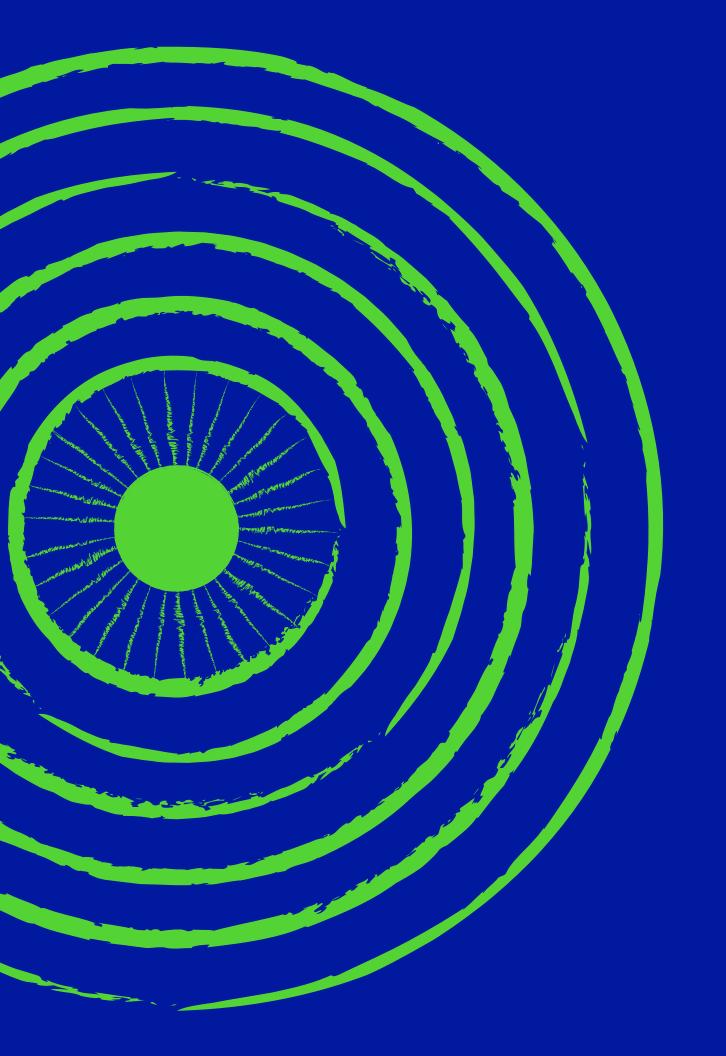

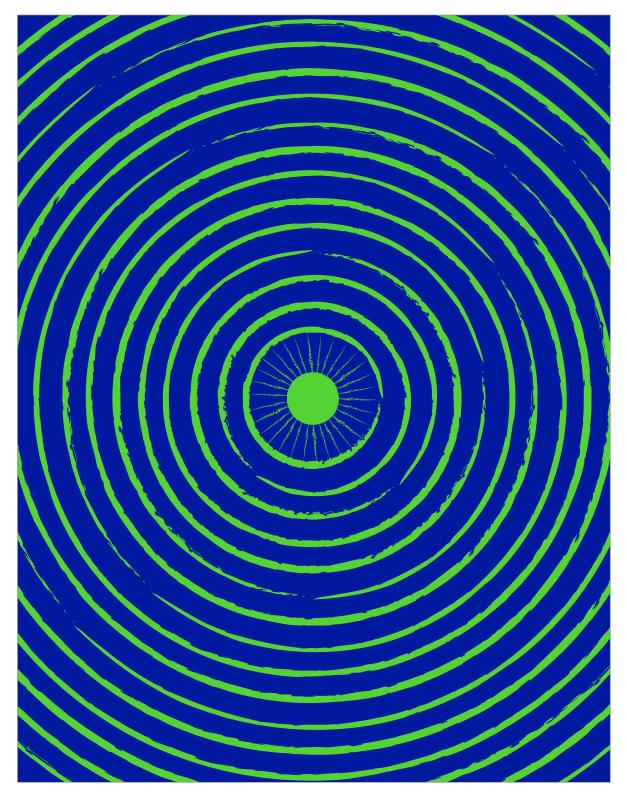

PHOTOGRAPHY.

Photography should be cohesive with the tone of established marketing materials. Vinyl records and record players should be prominently featured. As A Separate Reality Records focuses on the sale of used records, the records depicted in photography don't have to be brand new and a bit of wear and tear is acceptable, but all records depicted should be in good condition. Images should have low contrast and saturation in order to not conflict with the bright colors of the brand.
