In a town far away from Texas, there was a man who came off a train. No one knew him or what his name was, so they called him "Shane." He didn't like it.

"No one knew him or what his name was, so they just called him Shane."

There was buzz on what was happening in the town : fights, championships, etc. They also talked about this random guy named "NASTY Ned". Who was he? What did he want? More importantly, where did he come from?

"They also talked about this random guy named Nasty Ned."

He decided to go to the saloon. When he got inside, he asked the bartender to give him a drink.

"When he got inside, he asked the bartender to give him a drink."

When the bartender passed him a drink (by sliding it to him, the old fashioned way), ~~Shane~~ the man missed it.

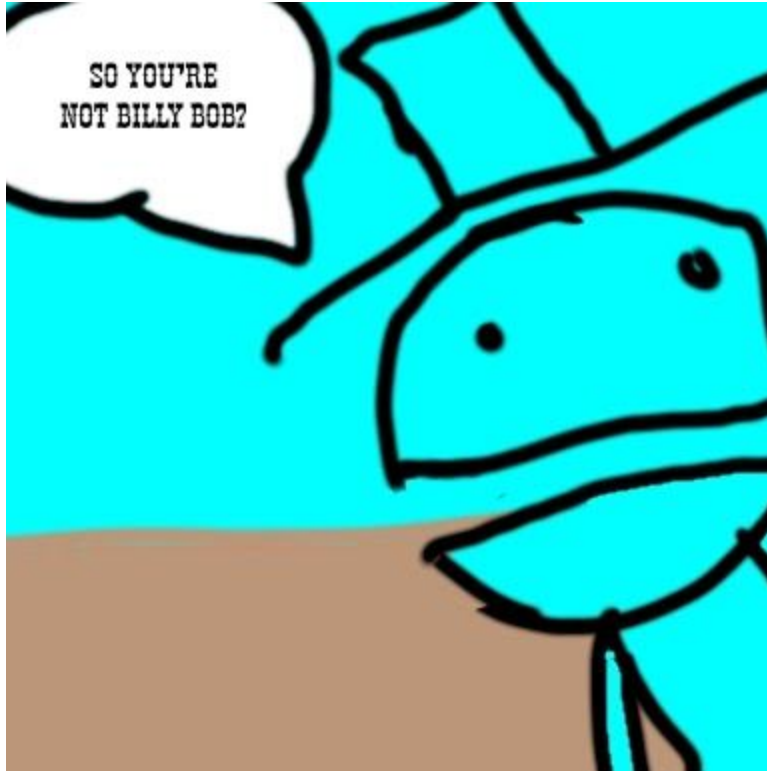

"Shane the man missed it."

So the man went out of the saloon, and there was the "Nasty Ned" everyone was talking about. Nasty Ned asked Shane the man if he was Billy Bob.

Shane the man said, "I have no name."

Nasty Ned asked, "So you're not Billy Bob?"

"So you're not Billy Bob?"

The man said he WAS NOT Billy Bob.

So Nasty Ned said he wasn't nasty. Billy Bob was the one who was Nasty. So Ned and the man decided to get on the train. Before they got inside, a kid said, "Come back soon, Shane!"

I don't remember what the kid looked like, so here's Cartman instead.

~~Shane~~ the man shot him and said, "My name's not Shane kid!"
